agricultural prosperity had built up foreign balances in our favor, it was idle to talk ubout speede payment.

Finelly, Mr. Davis' amendment, as amended, was dopted 28 to 16.

Mr. Sherman said the Senate having decided to penhibit any increase of the bank circulation, except by withdrawing it from three or nour of the New England States, he had carefully prepared an amendment in her or that of the Senator from Kentucky diavis, which was not, in his opinion, properly framed, and which he hoped the Senator would withdraw for such purpose. He read fits substitute, and continued, saying, while he was glad the Senate had deelded to withdraw a small per centage of the bank circulation from the East, he could assure them that, if they should adjourn without giving horease to the West and south, in would give rise to an wide spirit of dissuisiation of his amendment is adopted. Those States having none now would have a local circulation by show and gradual process, i vecording to the key the Vonjetroller of Uurtency was led distribute the circulation, one half according to population and one-half according to business requirements, and the only States alleeled would probably have an as a seasets, Connecticat and, possibly, Marylan I and Vermont. The debate was contin will drawal from the excess of exemy denotes. The debate was continued, during which Mr. Henderson urged the majodicy of contraction, arguing that the business of the question of paramount Importance, and to country rather called for expansion. He questioned the propriety of a speedy refurred to speede payments. The cry fur il was anyth and a himblung. It would not last six months, and a himblung. It would not last six months, if it were resumed. I util mechanical and agricultural prosperity had built up foreign balances in our favor, it was idle to talk ubout trade, which aids greatly in reconciling them to the present stagnation in business. Re-six or seven would be valied on to furnish a cent.

Mr. Enckaiew reminded the Schaffer that some days since he had said he would regard a certain vole to postpone, as a test vole, on the proposition contained in the first section of the bill, forbidding one National bank to pay the interest on the balances of any other. Mr. Sherman explained that separate sendors had thus voted, merely to give time for exactions had thus voted, merely to give time for exacting the movel to lay the bill on the table, in order he said, to avoid three or four days discussion. RIVER, WEATHER AND RUSINESS. RIVER, WEATHER AND BUSINESS.

RIVER, WEATHER AND BUSINESS.

The river is yet on a stand at this point, the canal mark showing the same stage of water as given in our last report. When we left the wharf at thisk last evening, there was five feet ten inches in the hidiana chate and two feet ten inches in the hidiana chate and two feet ten inches over the rocks. In the past twenty-four hours there has been some considerable rain at Plitsburg, but we are little inclined to believe it can possibly have any effect here. The weather during the foremon of yesterday was exceedingly warm, the theramemeter running up to 92, at 11 o'clock, in the shade, but about 3 n'elock in the alternoon, we had indeations of rain, accompanied with a strong, refreshing breeze, which materially cooled the utmosphere. Business still dull.

— The Mobilians are talking of the opening of Bayoo Manchae. This looks well on paper. The great fenture or point of argument is that them. Jackson, in December, ist, ordered this bayon to be chosed to prevent the littlish availing of this onliet, that is they were expected to pass through lakes Pontchartania and Magrenas, Athile river, enter Bayon Manchae, then the Mississippl river, and take New Orleuns in the rear. This is now in our city worthy and respected chingens who were connected with the quarternaster's hepartment of Gen, Jackson's army, who assert they never heard of any order to close the bayon, which, by the way, was never an open of, the, of the Mississippl river, ——The Ligrinuant Gracette, or yesterday.

—The Davenport Gazette, of Fridny, says:

"The work of haproving navigation on the Rock Island rapids is being prosecuted again with energy this season. At the buck creek excellent progress is being made. The contractors, 8, G. Lase & Co., were unfortunate in the loss of material and other requisites of the work, during the menorable week of the great tee gorge. But these halshaps have been remedied, and the rocks in the rapids are disappearing beheath the blows of the great chisels. Yesterday they were awarded the confinels for removing the Sycamore;
